

Janina Lord Morrison, MD MPH

Janina Lord Morrison, MD, MPH, is the Director of Clinical and Preventive Services for the Division of Chronic Disease and Injury Prevention at the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health. Dr. Morrison also acts as Medical Director of The Wellness Center at the Los Angeles County+University of Southern California (LAC+USC) medical center and a physician in the LAC+USC primary care clinic. The Wellness Center (TWC) is an innovative prevention-oriented community center on the campus of LAC+USC, housing 23 community-based organizations that provide programming and services to the patients of the medical center and the surrounding community. Since opening in March 2014, TWC has seen more than 20,000 clients with special focus on programming to address the social determinants of health and lifestyle modification. Dr. Morrison completed medical school at UCSF and training in internal medicine and preventive medicine at Columbia University and the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.